FRIENDS of Banbury teenager Molly O'Donovan have left a sea of tributes at the wooded area where her body was found.

Flowers, pictures, written tributes, pictures, teddy bears and balloons have been left at land off Foscoate Rise in the town.

The 14-year-old Blessed George Napier Catholic School pupil was found on Tuesday of last week, less than 24 hours after her family reported her missing.

Police are not treating her death as suspicious.

A note from "Daddy, Laura and your baby sister Daisy" reads: "We love you so much! RIP beautiful angel love you forever."

HUNT FOR BUILDERS

By Oliver Evans

LONG-MOOTED plans for more than 1,000 homes between Banbury and Bodicote have taken a step forward.

Developers have advertised for a housebuilder to take on the Bankside scheme for 1,070 homes at farmland off Oxford Road.

Residents fought the plans for more than a decade, fearing it would remove the divide between Banbury and their village.

Yet Cherwell District Council backed the site to help meet its housing targets and gave planning permission in 2009.

Development did not begin as a series of detailed permissions were needed and the housing industry was hit by the recession.

Now, Gallagher Estates and Hallam Land Management are seeking bids by September 20 for the 184-acre site.

The "Longford Park" development would also include a pub, primary school, office and retail space, place of worship and hall.

Bodicote Parish Council chairman Ron Glynn said: "I can't see how Oxford Road is going to take more traffic. It is the busiest road in the town.

The site of the proposed 1,000 homes at Bankside

"Bodicote would be doubled in size. The village will not get anything out of it at all."

The news comes amid a row about housing targets, which have seen a flood of controversial developments for villages around Banbury.

Cherwell District Council has supported major sites like Bankside but said the target was being missed as not enough are being built.

These include 400 homes north of Hanwell Fields, the Canalside development of 1,050 homes south of the train station and 400 west of Bretch Hill.

It said 3,350 homes need to be built every five years, but this is running short by about 1,600. But Banbury MP Sir Tony Baldry this month said new planning rules meant sites, where none have been built, still counted towards the target.

He said: "Cherwell has an adequate five-year housing supply."

Yet the council has said this only counts if

A great night of folk

FOLK lovers from all over the country converged on the tiny Oxfordshire village of Cropredy for Fairport's Cropredy Convention.

About 20,000 people came to the festival over the three days, from Thursday to Saturday to enjoy a line-up of acts ranging from Bellowhead and Squeeze to Joan Armatrading – as well as performances from Fairport Convention themselves.

By Fran Bardsley

The festival, which has run since the 1970s and is organised by the folk band, always ends with a performance of the band's hit Meet on the Ledge.

During the event, tributes were paid to former compere actor Geoff Hughes, who died at the end of last month.

As the sun set on Friday night, this year's compere Bobby Bragg pointed to the last ray of sunshine shining on the corner of the bar, and told festival goers he was sure the actor's spirit was there with them.

Among those enjoying the festival were Anne Cooper, from Great Bourton, and her three grandchildren, Maya, nine, Brooke, eight, and Toby, seven.

She said: "We come every year because we only live a mile down the road."

"It's a really nice atmosphere to bring the children, it's nice and friendly and there's never any trouble."

"It's brilliant this year because the weather is so nice as well."

As well as the music, there was another traditional treat in store for festival goers as the Adderbury Village Morris Men took to the stage for their first performance at the event.

Dancer Nick Duxbury, 27, who has previously visited the festival as a punter, said: "It was amazing – looking out at 20,000 people enjoying Morris dancing isn't something you get to do often."

"It has been amazing weather too, which really does help pull everyone together in a nice summery atmosphere, and the music is always of a great standard."

Sweet surprise for our Olympic stars

AN OXFORDSHIRE firm has delivered a personal reward to every single member of Team GB.

Each competitor has received a one kilo bar of chocolate wrapped in a commemorative box with their name on it.

Banbury firm KSP delivered a pallet load of chocolate bars to the Olympic Village on Friday to be distributed to every athlete representing Great Britain.

The firm based at Banbury's Tramway Industrial Estate printed almost 600 of the boxes.

Managing director Kevin Woodcock said: "We work for many customers and one of those is Cadbury's. They asked if we could produce a cardboard box for giant chocolate bars, one for each Team GB member. It was personalised for each one and had their name on it."

He said on Friday 600 kilos of chocolate were delivered to the Olympic Park.

Mr Woodcock said: "We are delighted to have done a small job, but a nice job as part of the Olympics."

"Every single competitor had a box printed in our factory of which we are very proud."

The firm also supplied the packaging for chocolate bars given to 150 performers including Gary Barlow and Paul McCartney, who performed in an Olympic gig in Hyde Park just before the opening ceremony.

WITH tales of Olympic torches selling for up to £3,000 each on ebay, you couldn't really blame some of Oxfordshire's torchbearers for making a quick buck. But for many people, those torches are much more valuable.

Will Traves, 13, from Banbury, was nominated for the Olympic honour by his mum, Beverley, who wanted to thank him for the way he cares for his sister, Victoria, who has special needs.

Will, a pupil at Warriner School, Bloxham, said: "I still have my torch and there's no way I would sell it or give it away."

"The week after the Olympic relay I took it to school every day and showed it off in class and assembly. Next week I am taking it to the Let's Play summer scheme in Banbury for disabled children, so they can see it too."

Fellow carrier Dave Earle's Olympic Torch has made him a 'mini celebrity'. The gym owner from Banbury said he would not be parted with it "for the world".

He said: "Since July 10, when I ran with it through Wallingford, this torch has been by my side constantly."

"I've been to fetes with it, where I've sat for hours while people take pictures of me, I've taken it to old people's homes, to schools, and from Monday I am putting it in Banbury Museum for a month, so everyone can see it."

Emmaunella Hinneh meets Olympic torch bearer Dave Earle

Mr Earle, 48, was nominated after years of work with youngsters and young offenders.

He said: "My mum died through alcohol and my dad died young too, leaving us kids behind. I was determined other kids weren't going to end up like let that and have worked to help kids make the best of their lives, through clubs, through boxing and I've also worked with young offenders too."

Mr Earle owns the Spit n Sawdust Gym in Bar Street, Banbury, and even takes his torch to work with him.

He said: "Running in the relay with the torch was one of the best days of my life. I took over from the celebrity chef Raymond Blanc and ran 300 metres and the crowds were incredible."

"I will keep my torch until I die and then leave it to my four children. It's very special."

A sporting spirit

BANBURY celebrated the end of the Olympics with a festival of sport at Woodgreen open air pool.

Saturday's event included free swimming, football, table tennis, circuit training and badminton.

Youngsters also enjoyed face painting and henna tattoos while visitors got to find out about sport clubs and activities.

Among the guests at the Woodgreen Avenue event was Olympic torchbearer and gym owner Dave Earle.

He said the success of London 2012 would have a lingering positive impact around the UK.

■ John Logie Baird colleague says cod liver oil secret to long life

100th birthday party for TV pioneer

AN engineer who helped pioneer the early days of television enjoyed celebrations on Friday to mark his 100th birthday.

Andy Andrews worked alongside John Logie Baird at the forefront of the invention.

He was there as the first public television service was broadcast, and was also there the night the inventor's laboratories burned at the Crystal Palace fire in 1936.

But he says Baird might not have been too impressed with his invention today.

Mr Andrews said: "He was a great man really. He was my hero. He had a great sense of humour and was a very nice man to be working with."

"I enjoyed that time wonderfully, there was a real sense of excitement and pride about what we were doing."

"We often thought about the impact it would have but we all hoped it would have a great cultural value."

By Rhianne Pope

But he added he was not sure his colleague would have been impressed with today's focus on reality television.

He said: "I think if Baird was alive now he would be disappointed. He would not have liked the rubbish that is on."

"He wanted it to help expand our minds which I can't say a lot of the programmes on now do."

Mr Andrews, who was actually born on August 15, 1932 in Middlesex, celebrated his birthday with a party at the Henry Cornish Care Centre in Chipping Norton on Friday.

He has lived in the town for the last 14 years, after spending much of his life in Buckinghamshire.

Regaling guests with his stories, he talked about being at the first live broadcast of ultra-short wave television in 1932 and at the forefront as the BBC began transmitting the world's first public television service in 1936.

Baird was credited with transmitting the first television picture, a greyscale image of a dummy, in 1925.

Mr Andrews said: "We would use a ginger ventriloquist dummy on a rope and try to capture the image of it moving."

"We worked long hours but we didn't mind. We knew it was a marvellous invention and we were just proud to be part of it."

Mr Andrews worked at Baird's company until 1939, when war broke out. He worked in communications during the war and was the co-inventor of the world's smallest microphone, used in the helmets of pilots.

He married his late wife, Winnifred Gair, in 1939, and had one daughter, Valerie.

Mr Andrews said his wife was his "best friend" and the reason behind his long and happy life.

He said: "The secret to a long life is marrying a nice lady and also cod liver oil. When my mother made me have some, I told her I didn't like it but she said: 'You will jolly well drink it until you do.'"

"I've had some every day since and I'm still here. My sister Doris did too and she's 102."

He added: "Often my mind wanders back to those early days, those were happy hours spent in those labs."

Andy Andrews, who is celebrating his 100th birthday, once worked alongside John Logie Baird OX53626

Violent man sent down

■ A 26-year-old man was jailed for eight years for two serious assaults. Benjamin Alvin Louthier, of Sir Henry Jake Close, Banbury, admitted punching a man during a game of football in Horley Path Road on August 31 last year. He was convicted of a second count of grievous bodily harm relating to an incident on September 25, when he attacked a work colleague, breaking his cheekbone. Louthier was jailed at Aylesbury Crown Court on Friday.

■ Hammer-wielding man smashed store door as pair took alcohol

Robbers are jailed

By Thom Ains

TWO men who drunkenly robbed a convenience store have been jailed for a total of almost seven years.

Andrew Davies wielded a hammer as he and Nathan Moreby threw punches at two workers in the Mace Store in Bridge Street, Banbury.

The pair were sentenced at Oxford Crown Court on Wednesday, August 8.

Davies, 39, of Speedwell Street in Oxford, admitted robbery, damaging property and having an offensive weapon – the hammer – in public.

Moreby, 28 of Conway Drive, Banbury, admitted robbery.

Prosecutor Rachel Drake said Davies and Moreby were in the store with friend Lee McDermott shortly before 1am on December 28.

After “loitering close to where alcohol is stored”, the group went outside and caused a disturbance, which shop worker Ali Abas Shah went to investigate.

Miss Drake said: “When Mr Shah came back into the store he was smashed by the men saying they would smash his face in, and warning him not to call police.”

Davies and Moreby then threw punches at Mr Shah and fellow member of staff Muhammad Chughtai.

After the pair fled with a couple of

bottles of spirits, Davies pulled out a hammer from his back pocket and returned to the shop, waving it at the two members of staff.

Miss Drake said Davies was kept away from the shopkeepers by Mr McDermott, who was not prosecuted. Davies then smashed the store's front door as he left.

The court was told Davies has a number of previous convictions, including being jailed for 27 months for two robberies.

Moreby was also involved in the same incident and was jailed for 18 months for wounding and causing actual bodily harm.

Graham Bennett, defending Davies, said his client “would say it never started out as any plan of robbery, there was only a plan to steal some alcohol”.

Clare Evans, defending Moreby, said her client “had absolutely no knowledge of, or any possession of, any weapons”.

She said Moreby was a “charming young man” and that the robbery was a “clearly foolish spur-of-the-moment drunken plan to steal alcohol”.

Judge Michael Gledhill jailed Davies for four years and four months, and locked up Moreby for 30 months.

Quiz night to start festival

■ TEAMS are being sought for a major quiz night to celebrate this year's Street Organ Festival and Town Criers' Day in Banbury. Teams of four are sought for the August 31 event at 7.30pm in Banbury Town Hall. Entry is £5. The quiz and the next day's festival will raise cash for Banbury-based charity Dogs for the Disabled. For information, call Banbury Town Council on 01295 250340.

Home should not be allowed

■ PLANS for a detached five-bedroom home in the garden of a historic property in Souldern should be refused, a council report says. The plan for the Grade II listed The Hermitage, in High Street, would harm the village's “historic settlement pattern” a Cherwell District Council report says. The council's planning committee will be asked to make a decision on the proposal today.

Pigs are now too pricey for our farmers

Industry suffers over the rising cost of feed

By Debbie Waite

PIG farmers in Oxfordshire have warned they are in danger of going bust because of rising feed prices.

The county has a long tradition of pig farming and even pioneered the practice of pigs living outside in half moon huts in the 1970s.

But the county's pig population has dropped from 177,257 in 1975 to 79,000 in 2009.

According to the National Pig Association, about ten per cent of Oxfordshire's small to medium-sized producers could be forced to leave the industry this year because of the rising cost of wheat, which is used to make pig feed and has increased in price by about a quarter after bad seasons in the US and UK.

Supermarkets have also been blamed for putting pig farmers under added pressure by sourcing cheaper but less stringently produced pork products from outside the UK.

Mother-of-two Louise Davidson, 55, of Oathill Farm, near Enstone, was forced to give up pig farming in 2007, when she could no longer make it pay. Her family had farmed pigs since 1924.

She said: "The situation is awful for pig farmers. But if Tesco and Sainsbury can buy their pork cheaper from the Eastern Europe, then that it what is going to happen.

"Not so long ago there was a real pig farming community in Oxfordshire and we would stay in touch. But now all my friends that were part of it are out of it. It is very sad."

Zoe Davies, general manager of the National Pig Association, said the only real hope for small- and medium-sized pig farms was if shoppers and supermarkets got behind them. No one from the major supermarket chains was available to comment.

■ Pupils plant spring bulbs as part of real science experiment

Blooming good fun!

By Fran Bardsley

SCHOOLS across Oxfordshire are being offered the chance to take part in a live science experiment, and practise their gardening skills to boot.

Last year the Yarnton-based Edina Trust worked with three primary schools in Oxfordshire and 11 more across England, Scotland and Wales on a climate change study called the Bulb Project.

After the pilot project, which included work in Stanford in the Vale, Hill View in Banbury and Harwell primary schools, the charity is extending the scheme to 12 county schools, and 38 in Lancashire, Fife and Midlothian.

The idea is that schools are given daffodil and crocus bulbs to plant in pots and in the ground.

All bulbs are planted at the same time in October, then it is down to children to record temperature and rainfall each day until the bulbs flower.

Tanya Gujral, of the Edina Trust, said: "We found there were differences between the whole of the UK in terms of when the plants flowered but also differences between the plants in the ground and the ones in pots.

"It was a small pilot and we felt we needed to expand it a lot more to get

Pupils at Hill View School in Banbury planting crocuses and daffodils during pilot of the Bulb Project more accurate results, and we have come up with some hypotheses that we are going to test."

Results from last year showed that the Welsh bulbs came up first, followed by the English bulbs, including those in Oxfordshire.

Miss Gujral said: "We don't know what the outcomes will be so the schools are really contributing to the project and helping us find out the answers – it is a real science investigation.

"The children will feel they are part of a live experiment and it's something that's relevant to them which they can see happening in front of them."

Schools will be providing kits containing a digital camera, plant labels, a garden centre voucher and signpost.

The schools signed up for 2012-2013 are Rose Hill, St Nicholas, Windale, Windmill, Larkrise and SS Philip and James in Oxford, Ladygrove Park and Manor in Didcot, Northbourne in Abingdon, RAF Benson and, for the second year running, Stanford in the Vale and Harwell.

Suicide verdict on teenager who was upset at break-up

A TEENAGER who hanged himself was upset over a break-up, an inquest heard.

Daniel Macki's shocked parents returned from a shopping trip to find the 18-year-old's body in their family home in Alma Road, Banbury.

Speaking at the inquest into her son's death, Daniel's mother Anna Macka said that he had broken up with his pregnant girlfriend and was struggling with the separation. "I know he was upset about the situation between him and his girlfriend," Mrs Macka told the hearing at Oxford Coroner's Court on Tuesday.

"She was pregnant at the time and he really wanted the baby."

Mrs Macka said that although her son had been depressed in the past, he had been happier in the week before his death, on April 13 this year.

She said that she and Daniel had enjoyed a shopping trip into Banbury, the morning before he was found dead.

"He was so happy that morning, not only that morning but the last week he was completely different," she said.

The teenager had eaten lunch with his parents before they went out for the afternoon, and during their time away from the house Mrs Macka had tried to call her son to ask him to walk the family dog, but got no reply.

Police and paramedics rushed to the house, but could do nothing to save Daniel.

He had not left a suicide note, but there were no signs of any break-in or third party involvement.

A post-mortem examination revealed that Daniel's cause of death had been hanging, and that he had not drunk alcohol or taken illegal drugs before he died.

The inquest heard that Daniel had used cannabis in the past, and in June of last year was rushed to hospital after he took an overdose of painkillers.

Daniel was seeing a mental health nurse prior to his death, and during an appointment in March of this year had said that he felt much happier.

Oxfordshire coroner Darren Salter said that he was sure that Daniel, whose family were originally from Poland, had committed suicide.

"I have noted from the evidence that there was no sign of a suicide note but, nevertheless, I am satisfied that Daniel intended to take his own life," he said.

Search for fraudster's proceeds

THE former Cotswold Water Park Society chief jailed for £700,000 fraud, used some of his ill-gotten gains to buy three plots of land in Cyprus.

Dennis Grant, of Upper Tadmarton, was jailed for four years and four months last July.

At a recent Proceeds of Crime Act hearing at Gloucester Crown Court it emerged the 64-year-old bought luxury cars, including an Aston Martin, with the stolen money.

The Crown Prosecution Service is seeking to recover some of the cash by seizing Grant's property.

Prosecutor Mary Harley said: "I understand the civil solicitors are making further enquiries in Northern Cyprus with regard to three plots which the defendant paid money for but which are not actually in his name yet."

The matter will be decided in November.

Attack charges

A TEENAGER has admitted two Christmas Eve assaults. Luke Bignell appeared at Oxford Crown Court and pleaded guilty to battery on Frederick Alan Luca How and causing grievous bodily harm to Joss Reed. Bignell, of Highclere Gardens, Banbury, was bailed to be sentenced at a later date.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Trevor Skidmore feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service the Oxford, Banbury & Abingdon areas and Trevor is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Trevor a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Victims step forward

■ Surge in reporting domestic abuse following campaign

ONE violent attack an hour was reported in Oxfordshire during a campaign to crack down on domestic violence.

There were nearly 1,500 reports of domestic abuse in Oxfordshire between May and July – up by seven per cent on the same period last year.

Last night experts and victims of domestic violence reacted with mixed emotions to the figures.

Some believe they show more people

By Damian Fantato

coming forward to report attacks but others have questioned whether there is an underlying rise in violence in the home.

Thames Valley Police launched the 62-day campaign in partnership with Crimestoppers and local campaigners to encourage people to come forward.

The police detective tasked with targeting domestic abuse said she believed the increase was due to more victims coming forward, but admitted it was impossible to prove.

Detective Superintendent Nora Holford, Thames Valley Police's head of protecting vulnerable people, said: "An increase in reports of domestic abuse in a certain context could mean there are more incidents of it.

"But we are fairly certain this increase is because of the campaign. That's because the increase is so stark."

Between May 14, 2012, and July 14, 2012, there were 1,495 reported cases of domestic abuse in Oxfordshire – 108 more than during the same period last year.

Judge Julian Hall, former resident judge at Oxford

Judge
Julian Hall

Domestic abuse support co-ordinator Liz Jones

Crown Court, has previously spoken out about the need for more victims to come forward.

Reacting to the results of the latest campaign, he said: "People hold back about reporting domestic abuse through fear of being thought to be interfering.

"It is unlikely that there is more domestic abuse taking place and it is much more likely that there is more reporting of it, which is a good thing."

The campaign included putting up posters and taking out adverts across the county to direct victims, neighbours or other family members to a dedicated website encouraging them to report violence and offering help and support.

Liz Jones, a domestic abuse support co-ordinator, worked on the campaign.

She said: "We will be keeping an eye on it to see how things develop."

Across the whole Thames Valley region there was an increase in reports of domestic abuse by eight per cent – the other counties in the region, Berkshire and Buckinghamshire, saw an increase of four per cent and 12 per cent respectively.

It comes as popular soap Coronation Street includes a storyline featuring the violent relationship between characters Tyrone Dobbs and his fiancée Kirsty Soames.

Thames Valley Police said it could not identify how many incidents were against men and how many were against women.

■ The website launched during the campaign – speakouttoday.co.uk – gives information and contact details for support services and will be staying online.

A golden summer

Lucy Tomlin dressed as a 1908 lady archer at Banbury Museum and, left, Swedish House Mafia tear up the decks at their Milton Keynes finale

By Liz Nicholls

On your marks...

WHEN it comes to festivals, this really is the summer that keeps on giving.

If you went down to the woods at the weekend, you were sure of a big surprise. The mellow, mashed-up magic of both Wilderness and Cropredy festivals brought together 30,000 festival-goers basking in the sunshine.

And to kick off the season, Swedish House Mafia last month showed Milton Keynes Bowl a lesson in how to go out on a high.

The stellar trio of Scandi DJs took the Bowl to a new level.

Swamped in mud, miles from their cars (early moan alert: why couldn't we park in the adjoining industrial estate, people?), stranded together in the mammoth Bowl, the crowd could have been on a downer. But while awash in the sea of euphoric faces, even the most hardened anti-corporate old-school ravers could not help but fall for this finale.

After a recent Swedish House Mafia performance in Dublin ended in nine stabbings and a drug overdose, security was tightened for this event – though not tight enough to spoil the buzz. Two stabbings were reported, but with a Bowl brimful of 60,000 partiers, this was a positive event.

Example pulled out the stops for the only live music of the day, this young buck rapper's talent dazzling – even with a broken ankle – in a set that could have soared later in the bill. But his early appearance whetted the appetites of the dance-hungry

STILL abuzz with Olympic glow? Fan the flames of enthusiasm at Banbury Museum. Its Dreams of Gold Olympic exhibition will take you far beyond the finish line.

Until September 8, this exhibition at the fantastic Spiceball Park venue traces the action from the first official Games in Athens of 1896 and from the Mock Olympics in Hendon of 1786. Here's a fun fact for starters: these included gurning, a sack race and a race involving chasing a pig across the countryside! Inspiring memorabilia and pictures jostle for attention and this is a free drop-in event meaning no ticket hassle or credit card angst – unlike the East End spectacular.

crowd, who were by now gleefully sliding down mudbanks.

Teen talent Madeon's electro-frenzy Icarus also went down a treat as did ringtoner Calvin Harris, fresh from blitzing T in the Park festival-goers into a frenzy.

But everyone knew why they had come and it was for Swedish House Mafia's swansong. Several people we met (and bonded with) talked about the "travesty" of Steve Angello, Axel Hedfors and Sebastian Ingrosso splitting up. They babbled, incredulous as '90s boyband fans, and I nodded, trying not to show to my new bezzies that maybe I wasn't that bothered. I mean, this was a hyper-commercial dance trio going their separate ways, not Lennon's assassination. In a venue that has staged such anthemic mainstream legends as Queen, Eminem and Oasis, could a dance act really bowl us over?

Masterchef finalist Andrew Kojima will give demos at Banbury Food Fair in Market Place on Sunday. The chef, writer and teacher will share wisdom at the Pudding Pie Cookery School marquee. Whet your appetite at 60 stalls, a Ready Steady Cook session, and The Banbury Flower and Produce Show.

They could and they did. The world's biggest headline DJ act, Swedish House Mafia's stadium-rave synths were made for this moment. In a whirlwind of lasers, fireworks and flashes of genius, the crowd pulsed throughout the two-hour set with Antidote a hammering highlight.

As a Union-jack-clad Ingrosso put it, flailing stylishly on top of the DJ console, it's been emotional. And I hope to be there when they decide to give it another go.

Nathan Hawkes, who led the way with an solid 85

BANBURY could only draw with Henley in Division 1 – leaving them with a massive task to now wrestle the title away from High Wycombe.

Recent victories saw Banbury go into Saturday's clash 32 points off top spot.

But their result – together with Wycombe's win over Tring, sees the gap now at 44 with four weeks remaining.

Banbury recovered from the early loss of Ian Tew to post 249-7 off 66 overs.

Nathan Hawkes led the way with an impressive 85, and was well-supported by Richard West (47), Ed Phillips (36) and Lloyd Sabin (30).

With Henley in trouble at 122-7, it looked like Banbury would keep the pressure up at the top of the table.

But a 67-run eighth-wicket partnership between Bjorn

Mordt (46) and No 9 Tahir Afridi, who hit 50, meant it ended honours even.

Courage is what it takes to stand up and speak. Courage is also what it takes to sit down and listen. This week can be really life changing for you Aries. You're never too old to learn and this is a lesson you should learn sooner rather than later as it can help you to make your life a better place to be. Ring me now to hear how the Moon favours renewing broken relationships this week.

LIBRA Sep 23-Oct 22

Unusual opposition to your plans may have left a bad taste in your mouth but aspects suggest that those involved may have had reasons you don't know about for their resistance. Let others tell their side of the story before you shut them out completely. No one's stories are simple this week, my friend. Give me a call now to hear why this is a year of great travel for your sign.

TAURUS Apr 20-May 20

Your element of earth is making it hard for you to adapt to the sudden changes that a close one wants you to make. What you're about to find out though Taurus is that they've been thinking about this for longer than you realise. You also have a right to your opinion though and if you can talk instead of shouting then you'll reach a happy medium. Phone now for tactics and suggestions.

SAGITTARIUS Nov 22-Dec 21

Although favours you do for your close ones may seem as if they're not appreciated right now, they will be in the long run. Your chart shows that recent events have really taken the wind out of your sails and so you need to think about taking some time out to recharge your batteries. Money you save now can help you to make money next month. Call now to hear why solo business paths are lucky.

0906 585 4368

CANCER Jun 21-Jul 22

This is a really favourable time for work in close association with others. Don't be afraid to use your imagination and intuition in relationships. Your psychic abilities are also strong and you should get some clear signals on what your future holds and who your destiny lies with. Don't be late for midweek meetings. Your reputation is on the line. Call now to better understand your stars.

0906 585 4363

CAPRICORN Dec 22-Jan 19

This begins a time when you will be more involved with close family members and what is going on in their lives. Get involved and help them out, but just know how far is too far to go. They could be playing you for a fool if you show a naive attitude to some of the problems they have decided to escalate for their own needs. Give me a call now to hear how romance lies in a favour you're asked to do.

0906 585 4369

LEO Jul 23-Aug 22

This is a really lucky time for new relationships. For once you are not feeling the need to play games but you're willing to lay your cards on the table and leave the acts for others to perform. Venus, the planet of love, rewards you for your patience and you start to see you life take shape in ways you had previously not thought possible. Give me a call now for more on this productive week.

0906 585 4364

AQUARIUS Jan 20-Feb 18

This is a really productive time for moving home, selling homes or just doing up where you live. You don't seem to feel comfortable with the way your finances are going and it would be better for you to sit down and do some honest sums rather than to fumble your way along with your eyes shut. Professional help you seek this week promises to be productive. Call now so that I can help you.

0906 585 4370

VIRGO Aug 23-Sep 22

Teaching and all forms of learning are well starred now. You no longer worry how things look but you're thinking more about how you feel. You could though Virgo, think a little more about how you take care of yourself and the bad habit you need to get rid of. It would be the icing on the cake to do so. Ring me now to hear why I know you have the confidence for great things.

0906 585 4365

PISCES Feb 19-Mar 20

Business affairs look busier and more energetic than usual. You've grabbed the attention of some really powerful faces who seem to know how to help you get what you want on a permanent and not just a temporary level. Look out for someone from your past who's back, with a very interesting story to share with you. Call now to hear why this is a lucky time for booking share away.

Public Notice

ENVIRONMENT AGENCY

ANNOUNCEMENT OF INTENTION NOT TO PREPARE AN ENVIRONMENTAL STATEMENT (Regulation 5 of the Environmental Impact Assessment (Land Drainage Improvement Works) Regulations 1999 as amended by SI 2005/1399 and SI 2006/618

River Cherwell Habitat Improvement Project

The Environment Agency gives notice that it proposes to carry out habitat improvement works on the River Cherwell near Williamscoth, north of Banbury (national grid reference - SP45713 45411). The works will include the removal of a low head weir to improve the river for fish. The channel will also be fenced in several locations to prevent damage from cattle and help marginal vegetation to establish.

The Environment Agency considers that the improvement works are not likely to have significant effects on the environment and does not intend to prepare an environmental statement in respect of them. An advice note has been prepared which outlines the potential environmental impacts at the site and this can be obtained upon request.

Any person wishing to make representations in relation to the likely environmental effects of the proposed improvement works should do so, in writing, to the address specified below, within 28 days of the date of publication of this notice.

PANDA Service & Maintenance

CONTRACTOR Administrator

Panda is a leading Buildings' Services provider to the Retail and Commercial sectors. With continuing growth we now manage nearly 15000 premises nationwide. Our established Contractor Administration team allocate small works to sub contractors and are responsible for managing successful completion of each job. With sole responsibility for a group of clients, this administrative role demands prioritisation, excellent communication skills, meticulous attention to detail and an aptitude for organised and methodical working. Some technical knowledge of buildings' maintenance is desirable, but not essential.

We are a successful and fast growing company whose prestigious clients include Rowlands Pharmacy, Scrivens Opticians, Jones Bootmaker, TM Lewin, Optical Express, Europcar, Russell & Bromley... to name but a few.

Salary is negotiable dependant on experience, but in the region of £20 - 24k. Send CV & covering letter, by 28 August, to: Managing Director, Panda Service & Maintenance, Bloxham Mill, Barford Rd, Bloxham, OX15 4FF or enquiries@pandagroup.com Strictly No Agencies

Oxford Fertility Unit

The Oxford Fertility Unit is one of the leading organisations in the country providing a complete range of assisted reproductive techniques including IVF. The main unit is located in a state of the art facility in the Oxford Business Park.

The unit is supported by a number of satellite units. In order to facilitate the continued growth and development of our services we wish to recruit:

Registered Nurses – full or part time (minimum 24 hours per week)

You will be a registered nurse and ideally you will have experience in Gynaecology, Women's Health or Outpatients. The successful applicant will need excellent communication and time management skills and an ability to work under pressure. You will be able to work both independently and as part of a larger team. No fertility experience is required as full training will be given.

If you like the sound of what we have to offer and in return you can offer us first-class skills and a willingness to learn and develop, email janet.talbot@oxfordfertilityunit.com for an application pack. Alternatively, contact Fiona Pringle, Clinical Nurse Manager on 01865 782800 for further information.

This position offers a competitive salary dependent on experience + benefits including flexible working.

Don't just take our word for it....

"Thank you Banbury Cake - advertising with you before and during Christmas 2011 led to an increase in both enquiries and wedding bookings for the Whately Hotel in 2012. We would recommend advertising with the Banbury Cake, for the service, the advice and most importantly, a return on your investment. Thanks to Clair and the team!"

Mercure Whatley Hall Hotel, Banbury

"Thank you so much for the wonderful advertising that you provided for Katherine House over the past few months. We had over 680 walkers register for the Midnight Walk this year, 90 more than last year!"

Katherine House Hospice

"Gymphobics have been advertising with the Banbury Cake for a couple of years now and have always seen an increase in enquiries and membership bookings following a campaign. This January we ran a series of full pages and a four page wrap with the Cake and had the best January uptake we have seen in years - we are delighted! This proves we spent our marketing funds well and would recommend other local businesses looking for an increase in sales or bookings to contact the team at the Banbury Cake."
